

If you require a certain article and you want to be sure that TICA has the item in store, you can use our reservation system.

In order to arrange things in a satisfactory way, TICA asks you to respect the following procedure:

- You will contact the exhibitor DIRECTLY. For information about all our exhibitors we refer to our website www.tica.nl, click on the subject field "Exhibitors".
- The exhibitor concerned will see to it that the required article will be set aside for a maximum of two weeks. The exhibitor will also see to it that the articles are provided with your name, the date the item has to be collected and moreover, clearly show a price.
- When you visit TICA, just indicate at Customer Service that you want to collect a reserved article and TICA will see to it that the item concerned will be left at the cash register in order to pay for whenever you are ready with your other purchases.
- If you are unable to collect the article, please contact our Customer Service. TICA can prolong your reservation for one more week.

Since TICA has limited space, the required item will be returned to the exhibitor if it is not collected within fixed time
